 Read the entire scenario before setting up ***

Overview	Special Rules
The plan is simple, find the enemy and destroy them! Leave no stone unturned! Leave no survivors!	Infiltrate, Deep Strike, Reserves.
Line of Retreat	Objectives
Units that fall back must do so towards the owning player's long table edge via the shortest possible route.	Primary (Annihilation): The player with the most kill points as defined in the 5th Edition 40K rulebook (pg. 91) wins the primary. (Scoring: Win = 20, Draw = 10, Loss = 0) Secondary (Victory Points): The player must score at least 250 more victory points than their opponent. See the 5th Edition 40K rulebook (pg. 300)/Mini-Rulebook (pg.108). (Scoring: Win = 15, Draw = 7, Loss = 0) Tertiary: Eliminate all of the opponent's Troop choices. This includes any dedicated transports taken as part of a Troops selection. Note that both players can achieve this objective and there are no draws. (Scoring: Win = 10, Loss = 0)
Game Length	Tactical Bonuses
Random Game Length—At the end of turn 5 roll a die: on a 3+ a 6th turn is played. At the end of turn 6 roll a die: on a 4+ a 7th turn is played. In all instances, games will end after turn 7, or when time is called – whichever comes first. Alternatively, the game ends immediately when the tournament judge declares that time has elapsed. Deployment (Pitched Battle)
Both players roll a D6 to see who will have the first turn, re-rolling in case of a tie. The winner of the roll chooses to go first or second. The player with the first turn then deploys their force along one long table edge, staying more than 12" from the centerline of the playing surface. They must then declare any and all units entering the game using the Reserves special rule. The player with the second turn then deploys their force along the opposite long table edge, once again staying more than 12" from the centerline of the playing surface. They must then declare any and all units entering the game using the Reserves special rule. In this way, no enemy units will be deployed within 24" of each other. Once both forces are deployed, players first alternate deploying Infiltrators and then alternate making any Scout moves. The player with the first turn now begins his turn. Scenario 2: Unplanned Assault

 Read the entire scenario before setting up (Turn 1 will use Night Fight Rules) ***

Overview
This sector is currently unoccupied. Your mission is to scout the area quickly and determine if there are any positions or resources worth capturing. Engage the enemy if necessary.
Line of Retreat
Units that fall back must do so towards the owning player's long table edge via the shortest possible route.
Game Length
Modified Random Game Length – The game will be a minimum of 6 turns. At the end of turn 6 roll a die: on a 4+ a 7th turn is played. In all instances, games will end after turn 7, or when time is called – whichever comes first. Alternatively, the game ends immediately when the tournament judge declares that time has elapsed. The time remaining in the round will be displayed in the tournament hall. Players should not begin a new turn if there is insufficient time remaining to complete the turn.
NOTE:
If the game does not reach the end of turn 4 for any reason other than the total annihilation of one force, NEITHER PLAYER CAN CLAIM POINTS FOR THE PRIMARY OBJECTIVE.
Deployment (Modified Dawn of War)
Both players roll a D6 to see who will have the first turn, re-rolling in case of a tie. The winner of the roll chooses to go first or second. The player with the first turn then deploys up to 2 Troops units (not choices) and 1 Headquarters unit (not choice) along one long table edge, staying more than 6" from the centerline of the playing surface. They must then declare whether each of the army's remaining units will be deployed using the Reserves special rule, or whether they will move onto the table at the beginning of their first turn. The player with the second turn then deploys up to 2 Troops units (not choices) and 1 Headquarters unit (not choice) along one long table edge, staying more than 6" from the centerline of the playing surface. They must then declare whether each of the army's remaining units will be deployed using the Reserves special rule, or whether they will move onto the table at the beginning of their first turn. In this way, no enemy units will be deployed within 12" (yes, 12") of each other. Once both forces are deployed, players alternate making Scout moves. The player with the first turn now begins his turn. The opposing player may choose to seize the initiative as described in the 40K Rulebook (pg. 92). At all times, armies must follow any and all special deployment rules specific to their Codex (i.e. Codex: Chaos Daemons).

Special Rules
Deep Strike, Reserves, Night Fight (Turn 1 only).
Objectives
Primary (Unplanned Assault): At the beginning of the 4 th game turn, roll a D6 and consult the table below to determine the mission's Primary Objective. If the players do not complete 4 full game turns both players score 0 primary battle points. (Scoring: W = 20, D = 10, L = 0)
Roll	Result
1-2	Table Quarters. The table is divided into 4 equal standard table quarters. To claim a table quarter, you must have a scoring unit wholly within the uncontested quarter. The player with the most table quarters wins.
3-4	Seize Ground. Capture terrain elements, to claim a terrain element you must have a scoring unit touching an uncontested terrain element. The player with the most terrain elements wins.
5-6	Field of Battle. Have the most scoring units wholly within 12" of the center of the table. This objective cannot be contested, simply count the number of scoring units for each player, the player with the most wins.
Secondary (Victory Points):	The player must score at least 500 more victory points than their opponent. See the 5 th Edition 40K rulebook (pg. 300)/Mini-Rulebook (pg.108). (Scoring: Win = 15, Draw = 7, Loss = 0)
Tertiary:	Eliminate all of your opponent's HQ choices. This includes any dedicated transports taken as part of a HQ selection. Note that both players can achieve this objective. There are no draws. (Scoring: W = 10, L = 0)
Tactical Bonuses	 +1 If your most expensive HQ unit is not fleeing or dead at the end of the game. If two HQ units qualify as the most expensive (same points value), then either unit surviving will fulfill this tactical bonus. +1 If your most expensive unit is not fleeing or dead at the end of the game. If two or more units qualify as the most expensive (same points value), then any such unit surviving will fulfill this tactical bonus. +1 If you have more scoring units left at the end of the game than your opponent.

Scenario 3: Capture and Control

 Read the entire scenario before setting up ***

Overview
The field of battle has several vital objectives. The enemy is trying to seize these vital objectives. You must prevent this.
Line of Retreat
Units that fallback will do so towards the owning player's nearest deployment table edge.
Game Length
Random game length—At the end of turn 5 roll a die on a 3+ a 6th turn is played. At the end of turn 6 roll a die on a 4+ a 7th turn is played. The maximum game length is 7 turns or when time is called. Alternatively, the game ends immediately when the tournament judge declares that time has elapsed. The time remaining in the round will be displayed in the tournament hall. Players should not begin a new turn if there is insufficient time remaining to complete the turn.
Deployment (Spearhead)
Setup Objective Markers before deployment (see Special Rules to the right). Both players roll a D6 to see who will have the first turn. The winner of the roll chooses to go first or second. The player with the first turn then deploys his force wholly within a standard table quarter while still staying more than 12" from the table's center point. They must then declare any and all units entering the game using the Reserves special rule. The player with the second turn then deploys their force wholly within the opposite standard table quarter while staying more than 12" from the table's center point. They must then declare any and all units entering the game using the Reserves special rule. Once both forces are deployed, players first alternate deploying Infiltrators and then alternate making any Scout moves. The player with the first turn now begins his turn. The opposing player may choose to seize the initiative as described in the 40K Rulebook (pg. 92). At all times, armies must follow any and all special deployment rules specific to their Codex (i.e. Codex: Chaos Daemons).

Special Rules
Infiltrate, Deep Strike, Reserves, Objective Markers (see the following).
Objective Markers: Before deployment, both players roll a D6. The winner places the first of 4 objective markers, with both players alternating objective placement thereafter. No objective may be placed within 12" of another objective or within 12" of any table edge.
Objectives
Primary (Objective Markers): Each objective captured is worth 5 primary battle points. To capture an objective you must have a scoring unit with at least 1 model within 3" of an uncontested objective marker. Contested objectives are worth 0 points. Individual scoring units may capture multiple objectives if the above criteria are met. (Scoring: 5 points per Objective Controlled. Max Total: 20)
Secondary (Victory Points): The player must score at least 750 more victory points than their opponent. See the 5 th Edition 40K rulebook (pg. 300)/Mini-Rulebook (pg.108). (Scoring: Win = 15, Draw = 7, Loss = 0)
Tertiary: Control the table. To secure the tertiary objective you must have at least one unit wholly in every standard table quarter. The unit need not be scoring, and both players can complete this objective, there are no draws. (Scoring: Win = 10, Loss = 0)
Tactical Bonuses
+1 If your opponent controlled none of the primary objectives. +1 If your opponent's most expensive HQ is dead or fleeing at the end of the game. In the case of two HQ's with the same cost, killing either will award this point. +1 If your opponent has fewer than 4 units left at the end of the game.
